SATURDAY.....OCTOBER 15, 1887.

OF MAINE.

Subject to the decision of the Republican National Convention.

"We always have the American flag above us and not below us."—James G. Blaine.

THE CENTRAL PACIFIC.

Stanford's Annual Report to the Stockholders.

President Leland Stanford of the Central Pacific Railroad has submitted his annual report for 1886 to the stockholders of that corporation. A statement showing the result of the year's traffic is made, especial attention being called to the effects of the rate war, in which the line was engaged during the greater portion of the year. With regard to passenger traffic, Senator Stanford says:

"The extremely low fares that have prevailed during the rate war have had an indirect effect of great value to the company's lines. The travel encouraged by these fares has brought to the knowledge of a great many people the unequalled advantages of the Pacific Coast as to climate and productiveness. This has led to an unprecedented immigration to California from the older Eastern States of well-to-do citizens, which is having a great influence in the development of the Coast."

The authorized capital stock of the company is stated at $100,000,000, and the capital stock outstanding at $68,000,000. The company's total indebtedness, not including capital stock, is $171,719,527.37. The total assets are $203,342,049. In this estimate the value of the company's lands in Oakland, Mission Bay and Sacramento is placed at $7,750,000.

The net floating debt of the company has been reduced $1,228,873.35 during the past year. Its total is now $1,306,375.71, of which $822,000 is due to the Southern Pacific Company. Up to April 1, 1887, there were redeemed 133 bonds at a cost of $139,982.50.

The total income for the year was $3,052,416.53, and the expenditures were $2,098,424.37, showing a surplus of $953,992.16, which was applied to the payment of the floating debt. The bill against the Government for transportation charges for the year was $849,000. The gross earnings of the Central Pacific and associated lines were $15,206,136.55. The expenditures amounted to $13,881,133.24. The operating expenses of the line were $7,096,000. The amount of earnings over the operating expenses was $7,970,696.29. The percentage of operating expenses for 1885 was 43.84 per cent, while for 1886 it was 47.10 per cent.

Preston H. Leslie, Governor of Montana Territory, in his annual report to the Secretary of the Interior, estimates the present population at 130,000 an increase of 10,000 during the past year. The present year has been most favorable for the production of all staple crops. The yields, without irrigation have been very large, and on the subject of stockraising, he says, prior to the present year, this industry was in a most prosperous condition, but last Winter was most disastrous. In consequence of this experience, stockmen have turned their attention more to the protection of grasses. The Governor estimates the number of cattle in the Territory at 1,400,000; horses, 100,000; sheep, 2,000,000; all of high grade. The report says $1,000,000 worth of wool has been produced and shipped this year.

The total assessed value of taxable property is $6,200,000. There were increased investments in mining, and a conservative estimate of the yield of the mines in gold, silver, lead and copper for the last year is $26,000,000. Coal has become an important element in the mining industry of the Territory.

The New York Herald says that even if New York should go Republican this Fall, it would not mean that the Republicans could carry the State in the Presidential election next year. As if to prove its belief in its assertions it comes out in support of Grant, the Republican candidate for Secretary of State, and says: "By all means vote for Colonel Fred Grant, the Republican nominee for Secretary of State, the son of a worthy sire, who was the savior of our Union."

Madame Armstrong, an Australian woman, made her debut in Brussels, Thursday night, in "Rigoletto." Critics are unanimous in praising her performance, and do not hesitate to compare her to Patti. She will appear in London probably next season.

Jay Gould says that there will be no advance in telegraphic tolls. "We can afford," he said, "to do business at the present rates." Thanks.

The Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of Oregon, will hold their next session in Portland.

Work will be commenced on the U. S. building by the first of November. It will not do to delay much longer, for the Presidential election takes place next year.—Carson Tribune.

PATRONIZE HOME MERCHANTS.

The Austin Reveille remarks:

Many people here have adopted the custom of sending away for their grocery supplies, dry goods, etc., paying down cash to these outside firms, while they get credit, trust and accommodation from the home merchants, who take chances in carrying them over. Yet for this faith, which the merchants hold in the honor of their customers, is often repaid by their sending to California for their supplies. There is no justness or fairness in such dealing. What does one gain in sending away? While he purchases a few commodities cheaper, in others he makes about a stand off, and in settling up the freight bill on his goods, he does not in the end make much of a bargain. The price list is read but the freight bill is not reckoned in. Another point which deserves mention, the merchant, in receiving a heavy cargo of goods and supplies, can get lower rates than the small shipper which enables the merchant to quote popular prices.

The person who sends abroad for the necessities of life is throwing that amount of money out of the community and from which we never receive any benefit. If this custom was general, there would be no business houses here to-day.

Money spent at home stays there, and returns to you in other channels. The merchant deserves your patronage because he helps support your public schools, county and other enterprises, and while you help him, he in turn is enabled to invest his money here, that gives employment to labor. You get no returns or help from outside firms but your goods, then why give them the profit of your toil, and cripple the business houses of Austin, who pay the greater portion of your taxes, and donate liberally for the support of the unfortunate. Patronize your home merchants, support the home enterprises, and in the end you will receive greater favors. It is by mutual help that citizens make a town prosperous. The good resulting from such a protective course must be patent to our citizens.

THE FAIRS.

The Carson Index-Union says:

The Appeal man seeks to divert attention, under the above heading, from any little unpleasantness resulting from the District Fair at Reno, and of General Powning. This is all very well and is probably the best he can do to cover the measure of chagrin felt by the County Central Committee candidates and hold-overs as to the ill success of the preliminary campaign for 1888, which was the centrally important exhibit at the Ormsby District Fair.

Mr. W. R. Chamberlain, of Reno, (who was luckily called in and gave solid reputation to Carson racing) and the pool men gave their impartial awards to the fastest horses and paved the way for a fine speed meeting at the same track a year from now. As to the other features of the campaign the committee and their assistants were naturally at a loss in their efforts to win glory and prestige without a railroad and Chinese sack to handle, and plenty of purchasable votes. They contrived at the outcome, however, to make as unpleasant an impression as usual. They proved conclusively their incapability of understanding—much less of appreciating, a generous popular movement to bring our locality into favorable notice and to improve the social and business feeling.

They have just the calibre and want of breeding to have labored under the impression that unless they "jammed" something or somebody the Fair would fail in producing votes for the next election. It is quite true that a $5,000 to $10,000 education or two was engaged in such a noble scheme, but when the average of the operators are sized up the showing is anything but complimentary to the alleged manhood or "culture" of the capital city of Nevada. The real success was in making their awards such a burden instead of benefit to the recipients that some of the latter have asked omission from the published lists.

If Reno management is very much worse than this, it is a sad thing to contemplate.

The Boss Pugilist Declines to Waste His Time and Muscle.

Boston, October 12th.—John L. Sullivan yesterday wiggled out of a challenge, made in good faith. The challenge was made by Pat Killen, of Minneapolis, the heavy-weight champion of the Northwest, whom Sullivan offered through the press a month ago to fight. When Sullivan issued the challenge Killen was in Philadelphia, and didn't hear of it until his return. He answered it, but Sullivan replied that he was going to sail for Europe on October 10th. Finding that the departure was postponed until the 29th, Killen wired yesterday the following challenge:

"I will box Sullivan ten rounds or more, he to stipulate the number if over ten, small gloves, Queenberry rules, winner to receive 75 per cent, and loser 25 of the gate receipts, the match to take place in Minneapolis, St. Paul or Milwaukee, ten or fifteen days from date."

Sullivan refuses to fight. He says Killen is all wind and he is off to Europe for money, and he promises to meet Killen when he comes back. Sullivan is severely commented on for such an answer.

BEAT THE LOUISIANA LOTTERY.—For the next sixty days all those who purchase one dollar's worth of groceries at Havener's Cash Store will receive a ticket in a drawing for a fine gold watch. This is certainly a liberal proposition and all groceries sold at this establishment are fresh and of the best quality, and are disposed of at the lowest retail price. All goods are warranted and if not as represented the purchase price will be refunded. Go and take your chances in the watch.

GOLD fields are scarce, but those who write Silvers & Co., Portland, Valparaiso, Chile, free, full information about work while they can do, and live at home, that will pay them from $6 to $25 per day. Some have earned over $200 in a week. No capital required. You are started free. Those who start at our absolute sure of snug little fortunes. All is new.

"TO EVERYONE HIS DUE."

The Carson Tribune says:

In order to show that Mr. C. C. Powning, President of the State Fair Association, was not personally inimical to Carson, as far as the Ormsby County District Fair was concerned, the Tribune is authorized to state that Mr. P. held the owners of race stock the last two days of the Fair at an expense of nearly $300, in order to keep them from going to Susanville, and to induce them to bring their horses to Carson, which they did, and materially aided the District Fair races. President Powning did all he could to assist our Fair and certainly ought to receive proper recognition, rather than insult. Mr. P. is perfectly able to defend himself against any newspaper attacks, so whatever appears in these columns relative to Mr. Powning's course in connection with our District Fair, is for the purpose of explaining to our numerous readers abroad, that a proper degree of friendly feeling between Ormsby and Washoe counties is increasing, and that the very fact of Reno reciprocating our visit during Fair time proves that all apparent animosity has ceased.

Gone to Europe.

NEW YORK, October 15.—Mrs. James A. Garfield and her daughter Mollie sailed yesterday for Liverpool by the steamer Arizona. It had been Mrs. Garfield's intention to pass the Winter quietly in New York in order to be near her sons, Henry and James E., who are studying law at Columbia College, and with the law firm of Bangs, Stevens &amp; Tracy, of which ex-Attorney General MacVeagh is a member. These plans were changed by the illness of Mrs. Garfield's niece, Miss May Mason, of Cleveland, who is said to be critically ill in London. It is stated in a dispatch from Cleveland that this sudden trip will necessarily postpone Miss Mollie Garfield's marriage to J. Stanley Brown, which had been fixed for October 26th. Mrs. Garfield and her daughter will spend the Winter in Europe, and will return before next Spring, and the wedding will probably be postponed until next Autumn.

NELLIE GRANT'S HOME.

A Glimpse of Her Surroundings as the Wife of Sartoris.

The Sartoris home is not far from the English seaport of Northampton and off to the right can be seen Cowes, with its harbor full of sailing yachts and the richest pleasure craft of all descriptions. The boats of the royalty, Albert and Victoria, which carry the Queen, and the Osborne, which is at the bidding of the Prince of Wales, lie at anchor in these waters. The reigning house of Britain sails in and out of this harbor every day when in this locality in the yellow painted and curiously decked craft which are called royal yachts. Beautiful boats they are and gorgeously fitted up. Both of them carry crews equal to that on an ocean steamer that has the capacity of a thousand souls. They are kept constantly in commission to do the bidding of the sovereign and her son. In these waters too, the royal yacht club has its home and the swell races between the boats and other phases of high social life make things very fashionable and lively about here. But social life, as the world knows and feels it in this locality, does not interrupt the even tenor of the Sartoris home.

Nellie Grant is the mistress of this home now, for the elder Mrs. Sartoris is dead. The master is the father of the singular son who married this splendid American girl, who so worthily bore a great name. The husband, having large interests in Wales, is rarely at home, and the father devotes himself to the care of his son's children and his wife's happiness. The elder Sartoris is a man of culture and refinement, devoted to music, painting and literature. He has means, and not only surrounds himself with a home air of art and refinement, but with those who deal in the finer touches of existence. His daughter-in-law lives in an atmosphere of the higher order. There are rich paintings in the halls and on the parlor walls, music of every description is in the drawing rooms, and books of the rarest quality in the library.

The farm is ample, well laid out and cultivated. The house is an old building with two centuries of history about it. The proprietor has added some new features to the architecture of the main building, and it is ample now to house the great troupe of friends who frequently come here to enjoy the good taste of the proprietor. The grounds are beautifully laid out and decorated. There are acres and acres of lawn and pasture, and many more acres of flowers, shrubbery and shade. Graveled walks laid in and out between the rows of great trees, which run in every direction, and tasteful flower beds dot the whole slope from the house to the river.—Letter in N. Y. World.
